Going on Hiatus (Maybe Forever)

Hey everyone!

I got an important announcement to make!

As you can already tell from the title, I have to go on hiatus for awhile. With final tests, as well as final papers being worked on during this time, it's going to be a very busy time for me.

Trust meâ€¦ I don't like it any better than you guys do, but life is lifeâ€¦ And I'm just going to be too busy to do any writingâ€¦

Butâ€¦

That does not mean I am going to stop reading and reviewing as I always do! I will try my best to keep on reading as much as I can!

My last test is on May 9th, so expect my return in the few days following that day, maybe even on the same day!

And you guys can use this time to catch up on stuff if you need to!

Howeverâ€¦ This goes on to another thing I have to sayâ€¦ I might actually end up retiring foreverâ€¦ And that's not just writingâ€¦ I mean reading and reviewing as wellâ€¦

The reason is that, I just don't feel loved anymore by the community, like I see lots of people who get much more than I doâ€¦ Even from new people on hereâ€¦

And after getting a review on Choices that really killed my self esteem, my decision is going more towards the negativeâ€¦

I worked really hard on that story, and seeing someone saying such a rude thing really destroyed my mood.

And I would rather not leave because I got "A Small Chance" to work on, as well new stuff I was planning. I was planning something that's similar to bluecatcinema's Amazon Adventures as well as an origin story on Alex the Scarlet macaw before the events in "The Scarlet Side".

But if no one is going to really care for itâ€¦ Then what's the point?

So if I return, I return and if I don'tâ€¦

Sorry guysâ€¦ I don't really know what to tell youâ€¦

Until next time (or never), this is your FFN brother, Alexriolover95, signing off for now!
